

Racers Who Care - Toyota Grand Prix of Long Beach, April 14, 2012

Racers Who Care is a Los Angeles, California-based group of motorsports professionals dedicated to making a difference for our next generation. Utilizing racers as role models, the program has unforgettably impacted children and teens throughout the U.S. with a variety of excitingly educational presentations centered around major American racing venues. Using personal observations from their own experiences, racers bring to children and teens a stirring message of positive alternatives to substance abuse and negative behaviors. Presentations center on key universal truths:

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1. Find something to do in life that you REALLY love; | 5. Take the long view; |
| 2. Study; | 6. Explore your talent and creativity; |
| 3. Find a mentor; | 7. Learn the art of teamwork; |
| 4. Be flexible with dreams and goals; | 8. Avoid the path of least resistance like drug and alcohol abuse; |

Each racer individualizes these concepts with anecdotes from his or her own experiences, applicable to every young person regardless of age, life experience or cultural background.
