

JUSTIN BELL

Justin Bell, who recently inducted his father, international racing star and five-time 24 Hours of Le Mans Champion, Derek Bell, into the Motorsports Hall of Fame, is well known as a television reporter on SPEED and host of The World's Fastest Car Show with Justin Bell on eBay Motors and eBay Mobile.

Since beginning his racing career in 1988, Justin has achieved significant racing accomplishments in his own right, including securing the 1997 FIA GT2 World Championship, winning the 1998 24 Hours of Le Mans, second-place finishes in Le Mans and Daytona, and a pair of SCCA Trans-Am wins.

Justin and his father, Derek, raced together from the 1992 24 Hours of Le Mans through the 1996 24 Hours of Le Mans. By 1993, Justin was co-host of the motor sports television program 555 Performance World, which aired on Asia's largest satellite network Star TV and was seen by over 80 million viewers. This led to his hosting a six part series, The International Young Driver of the Year on BBC television. His father occasionally made guest appearances.

Later in 1997, he won the FIA GT championship in the GT2 class in a Dodge Viper GTS-R, racing for Team ORECA.

Over the next few years, he raced for major car manufacturers including Saab, Peugeot, Porsche, BMW, Dodge and General Motors. In 2000 Justin signed with General Motors as a driver for the factory Corvette Racing team, finishing second in the Daytona 24 Hours, the 24 Hours of Le Mans and Petit Le Mans.

From 2000-2004, he founded and operated his own racing school, training pupils in Chevrolet Corvettes. In 2001-2003, he raced in the Trans Am Series, winning two major races at Houston and Laguna Seca and took the Rookie of the Year title. In 2004, Justin hosted an internationally distributed movie for luxury automaker Bentley. This top-quality production went on to win a prestigious Telly Award.

During successive years, he continued his dual motorsports and media careers.

Since 2008 Justin has been on-air talent for Speed Channel on the American Le Mans Series. In 2009 Bell debuted as the driving instructor for the celebrities on The Jay Leno Show where he also interviews the celebrity for the website.

Dating from Fall 2011, Bell has been host and a producer of The World's Fastest Car Show, a web show on eBay Motors. He continues working with Jay Leno on development of various car related segments and doing a weekly show for oncars.com. Justin believes there is an opportunity for great content centered around the auto-world, and so currently has some exciting shows in development – both for TV and the web.

In early 2012, Justin Bell joined the CTF/Racing4Research program, co-driving a Porsche GT3 in the Rolex 24 At Daytona.

Racing again in March 2012 for CTF/Racing4Research, Bell scored the first race-weekend sweep in his 25-year motorsports career in the season-opening event of the Pirelli World Challenge at the Grand Prix of St. Petersburg where he backed up his opening race win with an equally convincing victory Sunday morning in the No. 50 Tiger Racing Ford Mustang Boss 302S. These victories were Bell's first in World Challenge competition in addition to being firsts in WC for the Children's Tumor Foundation Racing4Research.org program and Bell's partners eBay Motors and Mobile.

Bell raced in Pirelli World Challenge competition once again in 2012 at the Toyota Grand Prix of Long Beach, where he made his first appearance on behalf of Racers Who Care, inspiring a group of elementary school students to believe in themselves.
