For the ninth year, dedicated racers made life skills presentations called Quick Tips on Winning in Life, based on their own experiences with negotiating barricades and potholes on their individual roads to career success, to Long Beach, San Pedro and Los Angeles elementary and middle school students, under the auspices of Racers Who Care, Inc., at the 2019 Acura Grand Prix of Long Beach.

Approximately 402 students participated in this field Trip Program.

This was the fourth Quick Tips on Winning in Life Field Trip Program for Kids at the Grand Prix of Long Beach supported by The Kenneth T. and Eileen L. Norris Foundation, which generously provided a grant, making the Program possible for area children in 2019. Additionally, the Grand Prix Association of Long Beach, through Mike McElroy and Chris Esslinger, again for the ninth year, donated exhibitor passes and a very large conference room in the Long Beach Convention Center.

The Program was very successfully and efficiently managed during race weekend by Event Co-Managers, JD Davis and Josephine Villasenor.

Along with Lucky Hudson and Robb Holland, JD Davis was key to developing the Racer

Presentation and Paddock Tour portions of the Field Trip Program, which were his management areas during the 2019 race weekend.

JD has worked closely with RWC's Judy Strawn on managing these areas of the Program since 2011. Davis began racing when he was 14 years of age and has competed in several different types of motorsports. Presently, he owns and operates JD Motorsports, through which he supports racers and teams at motorsports events.

Josephine Villasenor had previously worked on four RWC Field Trips in Southern California and had become very familiar with the Conference Room setup, managing the volunteers, and coordinating the arrival and departure of the student groups, which were her management areas for the weekend. She lives in Long Beach, where she is a professional event manager who owns and operates Long Beach Balloons & More.

The Paddock Tours of areas where Pirelli GT4 America race teams were working on their racing machines, led by JD Davis, along with various racers allowed students immediate, exciting realtime examples of the racers' Quick Tips presented earlier in the Program.

Each year, the Program has been conducted with a

Once more, as with every year since the Field Trip Program's 2010 inception, the City of Long Beach's Department of Parks, Recreation and Marine, through the efforts of Joy Warren, partnered with Racers Who Care and arranged for many of the groups' participation and transportation.

Other event partners included the Long Beach YMCA headed by Alvaro Rodriguez, and the Los Angeles after school program, L.A. All-Stars, headed by Leo Gallardo, who volunteered his assistance throughout the weekend.

Racers involved in inspiring the students to believe in themselves and reach for their dreams included: JD Davis, who has competed in different types of racing and now supports teams at races; members of the AMR IndyCar Safety Team (Dr. Goeff Billows, Medical Director for the IndyCar Series and the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Gail Truess, former Pace Car Driver for the IndyCar Series, current driver of the Indycar medical vehicle and Pace Car driver for Road to Indy Series and Battery Tender® Global Mazda MX-5 Cup Series, and Indianapolis Firefighters, Gus Chavez and Justin Longerich) inspired the YMCA's group of students, sharing both their individual Quick Tips on Winning in Life and road safety tips; Off Road racer, Felix Giles; Kart competitor, Spencer Russell, along with two of his fellow Kart racers,

Our racers donate their time to make these presentations. They generally do this on their own time as their own, personal project, not always through their teams, race associations or sponsors.

Because of knowledge gained through learning the ropes of racing, attaining skills and becoming leaders in their field, racers are uniquely positioned to fill a void in youngsters' general education between what they learn in school and what they need to know as they approach the realm of adulthood and entering the workplace; how to: establish effective working relationships, develop coping skills, locate mentors, and other key life practicalities.
